

Conclusion

I have always had the thinking “I will get to it later.” As in this report, I put it off to too much later and missed out on a great opportunity to do something great and fun. It is the same with the house, so maybe this was a good assignment for me to do, since the house could be so much better. After all, I enjoy doing everything outside.

I think now that I have recognized the problem areas and I have learned that “getting to it may not come around” will make the home improvements doable since they have been identified. As a professional garden designer for so many years, I am surprised at myself for not making this residence as I have done for my more famous clients.

With ample lighting, wide garden pathways, beautiful plantings, a dock with nice railings, and steps that descend to the lake edge could make this residence a beautiful place once again.
